"Shreemad Bhagavad Geeta"

The Life Management Lessons

The Department of Management Studies, LoGMIEER, organized an Elocution Competition on the occasion of 'Mokshada Ekadashi (Shreemad Bhagavad Geeta Jayanti)' on 5th December 2025 for the MBA first-year students. The event was designed to understand Indian Knowledge System and to promote managerial outlook towards Shreemad Bhagavad Geeta in students. The Elocution Competition event probes the hidden talents of the students and provides them with a platform to showcase their confidence, communication skills, creativity, and overall personality. It served as an excellent opportunity for the budding managers to read different interpretations of Shreemad Bhagavad Geeta. Interact with spiritually inclined scholars around them and faculty members in an engaging and encouraging ethical professional environment. It helped to express individual thought process and develop stage confidence. The prime objective of the elocution competition was to understand Indian Knowledge System through developing managerial outlook towards Shreemad Bhagavad Geeta.

The guest speaker then delivered an insightful and informative lecture covering key areas such as demand and supply analysis, cost-benefit analysis, market structures, pricing strategies, and the impact of macroeconomic indicators on business performance. The session also focused on the application of economic models and data analysis techniques for evaluating business alternatives, minimizing risks, and improving organizational efficiency. Real-world business examples and current economic scenarios were discussed, adding practical relevance to the theoretical concepts. An interactive question-and-answer session was conducted at the end of the lecture, during which students actively participated and sought clarifications on topics such as inflation, interest rates, economic forecasting, and their implications for managerial decision-making. The guest speaker responded to the queries effectively and encouraged students to adopt a logical and analytical approach toward economic issues. Conclusion The guest lecture was highly beneficial and academically impactful, contributing significantly to the intellectual development of MBA students.
