Report of the Event:

On the occasion of International Women's Day, to celebrate womanhood & to highlight the importance of gender equality, empowerment, and the breaking of barriers by women across all fields. It also served as a reminder of the continued need to promote opportunities for women to thrive and lead in their respective domain. The Department of Management, in association with Ram Thirtha Godavari Seva Samiti, organized a special felicitation program to honor the outstanding achievements of female students and acknowledge the dedicated efforts of female faculty members who made significant contributions to the Godeche Maher event, organized on 6th February 2025. The event celebrated Ms.Vijaya Rahatkar for her exceptional contributions, and also recognized women from various fields such as education, healthcare, business, social activism, and arts, who have achieved remarkable success.

The main objective of the felicitation program was to express the gratitude and appreciation for the hard work, dedication, and leadership demonstrated by both faculty and students. The event began with a welcome speech from the Principal Dr. Kailas Chandratre, who emphasized the importance of volunteerism in fostering social responsibility and highlighted the positive impact that volunteers have on both the community and the institution.

Following this, Mr. Jayant Gaidhani a guest speaker delivered an inspiring speech, sharing personal experiences of volunteer work and its transformative effects on both individuals and society. The Head of Department, Dr. Sarika Patil, also shared her experience of the Godeche Maher event, reflecting on the movement and successes encountered during its organization. Some faculty members and students shared their personal experiences, discussing the skills they gained and the impact their contributions had on others. This segment was highly appreciated, as it showcased the personal growth and development of the volunteers.

Our KVN Naik Sanstha secretary Mr. Hemant Appa Dhatrak during his speech acknowledged and appreciated the remarkable contributions of all the female staff members at LoGMIEER. He commended their unwavering dedication to academics and their tireless efforts in the development and success of the institute. He also acknowledged the significant role they play in shaping the future of the students and ensuring the overall growth and excellence of the institution.

A significant portion of the event involved the presentation of certificates and awards to students and staff volunteers who went above and beyond in their roles. The certificates acknowledged their invaluable contributions to the Godeche Maher event. The program concluded with a heartfelt vote of thanks.

Conclusion:

The felicitation program for student and staff volunteers was a resounding success, fulfilling its purpose of recognizing and appreciating the selfless efforts of individuals who dedicated their time and energy to volunteering. The event provided a meaningful platform for sharing experiences, strengthening community bonds, and encouraging continued participation in volunteer activities. Moving forward, it is crucial to continue acknowledging the efforts of volunteers and create more opportunities for others to engage in meaningful service to the community.
